Dear Barrett:

We greatly appreciated your help and support throughout our web development project with Accent Foods. The efforts that you and your staff put into the project went well above the original scope of work agreed upon in order to create this special site.

Your efforts to understand our business and the manner in which we market to our customers is truly a unique approach we have found in the web development market. Yet it was just this level of understanding and consulting which we required to develop a successful internet business model.

Accent Foods is looking forward to a long and profitable relationship with BB2e as you provide us with ongoing web development, hosting, and internet marketing services.

Thank you again for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Tom Hawkins
